Physiotherapist

Central & Western DHC Express

The Hong Kong Society for Rehabilitation

Hong Kong

Alex Chau completed his Bachelor's degree in Physiotherapy from The Hong Kong Polytechnic University and subsequently earned his Master's degree in Sports Medicine and Health Science of The Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Mr. Chau now serves as Physiotherapist I in Central & Western DHC Express, which is operated by The Hong Kong Society for Rehabilitation. Previously, he worked under Hospital Authority after graduation and gained extensive experience in various clinical settings. After a few years of practice, he decided to change his career path to primary healthcare.

Currently, he is responsible for providing and development of different physiotherapy services in DHC Express especially in chronic pain management and fall prevention areas. He is also involved in research and health promotion programmes such as public health talks as well.
